The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(a) the invention was known or used by others in this country, or patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country, before the invention thereof by the applicant for a patent.

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 1, 2, 5-8, 10, 11, 17, 18, 20, 22-24, and 27-31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Kern.

Kern teaches a calibration method for a laser surgery system wherein a calibration surface is imaged via an interferometer and then ablated, the ablation is measured and the laser is adjusted to correct whatever inaccuracies exist in the beam delivery, so the desired ablation profile is produced.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3, 4, 9, 12-16, 19, 21, 25, 26, and 32 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Kern in combination with L'Esperance, Jr. Kern provides the teachings set forth above. L'Esperance, Jr. teaches the details of a ophthalmological laser surgery system, including the use of an iris diaphragm for forming the beam, opening or closing the diaphragm progressively during the course of a surgery and the use of treatment beam diameters in the claimed range. It would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill to employ an image of a separate object, rather than the image of the unablated calibration surface as the standard to which the calibration monochrome substrate also produced no unexpected result and both are well within the scope of one having ordinary skill in the art; to determine various non-idealities associated with the iris diaphragm, such as hysteresis and the motor counts associated with the iris positions, since these are necessary for the ablation to be performed properly, which is the goal of Kern, similarly detecting and compensation for wobble induced by beam rotators would also be obvious in order to produce the desired ablation profile, thus producing a method such as a claimed.
